

Atlantic humpback dolphins

Illustration: Phil Coles

Atlantic humpback dolphins are 'critically endangered' - there may be less than 3,000 of them!

Their babies drink milk from their mothers - they are mammals like us.

Young dolphins stay with their mothers for several years, learning how to hunt and survive.